

Insights from Visualization:

- Educational Preferences: By analyzing the data, we can identify which education levels are most sought after by employers in the industry.
- Employment Trends: The visualizations reveal trends such as increasing demand for higher educational qualifications, reflecting changes in the labor market.
- Workforce Structure Changes: A shift from lower to higher educational qualifications may indicate companies are looking for more specialized and skilled employees over time.